SIR,

I Hope you Received my Letters concerning the Battell; since that time the Army hath layen before Bridgewater, giving them Alarms day and night: There is in the Town above 30. pieces of Ordnance, whereof one is a Demy-Canon, another carries 32. pound bullet, strongly Fortified, deep Trenches; yet our Souldiers have their Bobbins in readinesse, and were in hopes last night to have Stormed; a few dayes will starve them; good prize within. The Governour and his Lady, Sir Hugh Windham, his Son, Sir Iohn Digby, Sir Fr. Courtney, Tho. Elliot sore wounded, &c. A Convoy is gone for the Treasure at Lyme, it will much comfort the Souldier who deserves it well; the Country suffers by the want of it: Goring is fled to Barstable, the Club-men being more terrible to him then our Army, giving him Alarms, and disarming his men in Devonshire, as the Club-men of Somersetshire did: Hopton is fled to Exeter, for France if he can; Sir Jo: Staangewee, and Sir Francis Dorrington fled into Wales; they see their condition desperate, and I hope shall do it every day more and more.

Col: Okey with his Dragoons, laying Siege to Borough Garrison, had it yesterday Surrendered unto him on bare Quarter, Capt. Smith and 120. more being in it, 80. Muskets, and 40. Fire-locks. The Army continues Siege before Bridgewater, and either by Storming or Starving, will undoubtedly shortly carry it; for they are not provided for a Siege, wanting Vintuals. Goring is fled to Barstable in great confusion, not 140. foot with him; the Club-men much annoy him, he hath not 1400. Horse for Service left, the rest women and boyes.

One Coll. and a French Gentleman of quality, continue in a Commanders hands still, whose Names are not yet returned to the Provost Marshall.

Sir

Sir Francis Courtney lyes dangerously wounded at Bridgewater, and other Officers of quality: Sir John Digby is there also wounded.

Common Souldiers taken 1200. whereof 500. have taken the Covenant, and taken up Armes, being first: approved by Mr. Ash, and Mr. Moor, Members of the Parliament.

The inclosures being many, abundance of the Foot escaped and got to the club-men, who disarmed them, and gave them leave to go to their homes; they disarmed 300. at one time, Horse and Foot.

Our men were so eager on the pursuit, that they left the prisoners to themselves to march back to the Army, who escaping, made the number fall short of that was assured they were of.

There is in Bridgewater about 30. piece of Ordnance, 1000. Souldiers Welch and Townsmen, moated about, water deep, having the benefit of the Tide.
